Washington, Jan. 15.—The cruiser Denver has been ordered from San Diego, Cal., to Acapulco, Mex., where a desperate situation is reported, with Americans in danger. She will sail tomorrow and should arrive at the Mexican port in about four days. Commander Washington has about 700 Jackies aboard and about a company of marines.

The government's decision to send the warship to protect American lives and property was reached today after alarming reports of the activity of a rebel band under Julio Radillo had been received through Ambassador Wilkins at Mexico City. The last report said that refugees from every direction were pouring into the town, which is one of the most important Mexican ports on the Pacific. Depredations and atrocities by the approaching rebel band were reported. Americans and other foreigners will be taken aboard the Denver when she reaches there, if they desire. The Denver is the nearest ship to the danger line.

The $30,000 bond was allowed to stand and Johnson was given time to secure a new bond on the smuggling charge.

METHODIST BROTHERHOOD ON RECORD AS FAVORING PLAN OF COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

Endorsement of a commission form of government, and the organization of a "church voters' league," organizations similar to which will be instituted in every church in the city during the next few months, characterized an interesting session of the Brotherhood of the First Methodist church Tuesday evening, at which the commission plan was outlined by two men ably fitted to discuss its merits.

The discussion of the commission form followed the serving of an oyster supper by the ladies of the church, which was heartily enjoyed by the hundred or more guests. Upon replying to the church parlors, Prof. H. J. Dickerson of the department of government and geography at the Newark High school, was introduced and struck the key-note of the meeting in a brief address, outlining the purpose of the commission plan. Mr. Dickerson first stated that good government requires three fundamentals, —simplicity, publicity and efficiency, and declared that the commission form of government, in repeated instances, has attained these conditions.

"Any form of government which can command the attention of 257 American cities," added Prof. Dickerson, "is worthy of most careful and respectful attention from the students of government. Any one who has observed the fads which come in the fields of government, naturally views with considerable hesitation the advent of a brand new system of government. The impelling factor in this great movement is the widespread dissatisfaction with our present system. We disagree on many things, but fortunately we all agree that there should be some reform in our American cities. Its advocates do not claim that the commission form of government is a panacea for all municipal ills, but that it will minimize the vast amount of political corruption that now exists.

"In those cities where it has been in operation, its inauguration has been followed by such marked improvement as to impress even its opponents. The commission form of government though new in name is not new in principle. Our country government which is practically a commission government is studied as a type throughout all the countries of Europe. Political scientists pronounce it the best form in the United States.

"You may ask why it has not been adopted by the larger cities. It is true that it has not invaded the ranks of the large cities, but the principle exists there, nevertheless. The entire city of New York is in reality governed by a Board of Estimates. Try to inaugurate a piece of legislation

HUSH! SDEATH! SPIES ARE BUSY WATCHING PARCEL POST

The wind blew a chilling blast around the court house square and the sky threatened to let fall a blanket of cold, white snow. The court house clock indicated that morning was not yet, but soon. Just a faint deep of dawn appeared in the eastern sky. The city patrolman shimmered peacefully in the stairway farthest away from the wind's attack.

Suddenly the form of a man, bundled in furs that almost concealed his features, crept from his place of hiding. He threw himself against the wintry blast with a bravery that showed the urgency of his mission. (A little slow, soft, jerky music, Mr. Director.)

Reaching the postoffice, the stranger drew his head, turtle-like, a little deeper into his furry shell, (ever see a turtle with a furry shell, and passed into the outer offices. Peeping through the glass of one of the lock-boxes, he counted:

"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven—" and the dingy old clock in the postoffice ticked its seconds in harmony with his count.

For several minutes he counted—"a hundred and ten, a hundred and eleven, a hundred and twelve—"

And then there came an interruption. "Whatcher trying to do? Get the hell out of here or I'll fire you out," the words rang out in fierce denunciation, accompanied by epithets apropos, as Superintendent A. G. Smith of the parcel post division of the local postoffice—

But the visitor had made good his escape and the cold morning wind blew once more, whistlingly and penetratingly to the stairway where the city patrolman rubbed his weary, sleep-stained eyes and prepared to report. "All's well!"

At least, this is the way it would sound if told in true dramatic style. In newspaper parlance, however, the public is politely informed that there will be no more parcel post news from the local postoffice. This was announced this morning by Superintendent Smith, in pursuance with government order received in Newark yesterday, which prohibits the publication of any news regarding the workings of the department, the quantity of shipments and the nature of the materials being sent through the parcel post.

It seems that the express companies have employed spies to look into without the approval of this board and see what becomes of it. Try to oppose a measure sanctioned by it and see if you succeed. The other departments of governments are like a vermillion appendix, entirely useless.

"The spirit of commission government is at work in the larger cities. Buffalo and Detroit are about to put it to a test. You may ask why Los Angeles defeated this form of government? In addition to the commission plan the charter also gave the city the right to engage in industrial enterprises, which was opposed by organized labor, and in order to defeat this, they defeated the entire charter. The commission plan, though scarce—

COX ISN'T GOING TO LOSE TIME

Columbus, Jan. 15.—Governor James M. Cox will have no office hours, according to an announcement made today by his secretary, George Burba.

"The office will be open all of the time, morning, noon and evening," said Mr. Burba. "Under the Harmon administration the office was not open for official business until 10 o'clock in the morning and two hours was taken for lunch at noon. According to the plan of the new governor the office will not be closed at noon.

200,000 NOW INCLUDED IN GIRLS' STRIKE

New York, Jan. 15.—Fifty thousand flaming red posters distributed in 600 girls' dress and shirt-waist factories today turned nearly 40,000 workers into the ranks of the strikers in the garment making trades, now numbering nearly 200,000. The posters were the official call for a strike among the dress and waist makers who had previously sanctioned such action by an overwhelming vote. All of these employees are girls. Some of them are under 14 years of age, and their organizations have appointed committees to guard the idle workers against agents of the white slave trade.

OHIO SENATOR FOR ONE CENT POSTAGE

the parcel post business in cities of any size, and it is known that these special Sherlock Holmes of the greedy express trust have been in Newark for several days. The companies are gnawing their lips and trying to smile, but, just the same, the loss of business in Newark has been terrific, and the express companies are "some worried."

At any rate there is going to be no more parcel post news as far as authoritative statements from the postoffice make it possible.

Senator Theodore Burton.

Senator Burton of Ohio is leading the campaign for one cent letter postage, and has introduced a bill in the senate, providing for the inauguration of the new rate on July 1, 1913. Senator Burton declares that the people are entitled to one cent letter postage because it actually costs less than one cent each for the government to handle letters. This results in the accumulation of a surplus of over $6,000,000 each year on the letter mail.

HUNGER LINES GROWING

Hundreds Forced to Accept

at Evansville.

Cincinnati, Jan. 15.—Upon request of Otto G. Geier, chairman of the Cincinnati flood relief committee, Governor Cox today ordered that several hundred army cots belonging to the Ohio National Guard be sent to Cincinnati immediately from Camp Perry, near Port Clinton. The cots will be used in caring for those made homeless by the high water in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Jan. 15.—Unofficial observations along the river show that the waters are slowly receding.

The swollen Ohio River remained practically stationary at Cincinnati yesterday. The shifting of backwater seemed to indicate that the river had fallen an inch in several places, but the Government gauge recorded a slight rise.

The crest of the flood, about 62.3 feet, probably has been reached, according to the weather forecaster. The weather bureau expects the river to remain stationary for nearly 48 hours.

As the flood is prolonged the lines of the hungry grow in length. Yesterday many sufferers, who had hesitated to ask for charity, were forced to the various stations.

A huge quantity of driftwood and a high wind added to the danger in the flooded district last night. The property loss is increasing with each hour, and many thousands of dollars will be required to repair the flooded homes and factories. The loss to men who were thrown out of employment by the flood cannot be estimated.

Twenty thousand dollars were appropriated last night by the city council for the relief of the flood sufferers. The appropriation was in the form of a bond issue bearing 4 per cent interest and payable within one year. A special meeting of the sinking fund trustees will be called immediately to take up the issue so that the money can become available without any unnecessary delay.

It was stated yesterday that despite the action of council considerable more money will be needed, as it will be impossible to handle the situation with the means at the disposal of the committees. In 1907 more than $30,000 was needed to meet the situation, and it is estimated that as much and more will be required to give the proper relief now.

Already many buildings in the inundated localities are beginning to crumble under the weight of many tons of water.

Three five-story brick buildings at 10 and 12 East Second street collapsed yesterday, endangering many lives. Building Inspector Rapp will commence a tour of the factory district affected by the flood today, and the occupants of buildings he finds unsafe will be ordered to vacate.

The wind and driftwood increases the likelihood of more buildings collapsing. Many families, who have been living in the second story of their submerged homes, sought quarters elsewhere because of this danger last night.

The relief committee and the charitable organization worked until a late hour last night in their efforts to (Continued on Page 9, Col. 1.)

Columbus, Jan. 15.—Prosecutor Edward C. Turner of Franklin county today requested the bondsman of Wm. Probabilities are that he will plead either late today or tomorrow.

PUBLIC HEARINGS FOR LIQUOR LICENSE CODE; LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEES

Columbus, Jan. 15.—Members of the House and Senate temperance committees will hold a joint meeting tonight to decide upon the rules to govern the public hearings on the liquor license code. According to members of both the House and Senate committees, the public hearings probably will be held next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Many of the legislators have expressed the desire that the liquor code be gotten out of the way as quickly as possible so that other administration measures may have the right of way. The license code will be given a clear track in both houses.

Columbus, O., Jan. 15.—Membership on the House Liquor License and Temperance Committee is nearly equally divided. Speaker Swain has announced that the membership on that committee would compose Representatives Walsh, Chapman, Snyder, of Pickaway, Hunler, Sweeney, Horrid, Barthelme, Hoffman, Cooper, Anderson and Gilson, with Representative Welsh of Ottawa as chairman.

The chairman and Representatives Chapman, Snyder, Sweeney, Horwitz and Hoffman are said to be acceptable to the "wets," while Representatives Hunter, Barthelme, Cooper, Anderson and Gilson are said to be acceptable to the "drys." The track in both houses.

COURT OF APPEALS IS INVITED TO HOLD SESSIONS IN NEWARK

Newark will be one of the four points in the Fifth circuit judicial district where the new court of appeals will hold its regular sessions if the action of the Board of County Commissioners, the Licking County Bar Association, and the Newark Board of Trade is the necessary and final step in the matter.

This will be definitely known on Wednesday night when Mr. J. M. Swartz, for the Bar Association, and Col. W. C. Wells, representing the Board of Trade, return from Mansfield, where they went on the Baltimore and Ohio train at 1:30 this afternoon, to get an official statement from the court of its intention to locate here.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning common pleas court recessed, and all the attorneys, together with a number of the members of the Board of Trade, waited upon the commissioners.

The assembling of the large committee, while it showed conclusively that Newark wants the court here, was not necessary, for on January 8, without making public its action, the board of commissioners had passed the following resolution:

Whereas, It has been represented to the board that the new court of appeals is desirous of locating said court at four points in the district, and that it will designate Newark, Ohio, as one of the points if the board of commissioners will provide suitable rooms in which to conduct the business of said court; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the board does hereby accept said proposition, and does hereby order that the room at the southeast corner of the court house, on the second floor, and the room now occupied by the prosecuting attorney be prepared at once for its occupancy.

This morning the commissioners stated that the only reason for any delay on their part has been the fact that they have had no official notice from the court that it had chosen Newark as one of the four headquarters points.

In an effort to have the court express itself and to justify them in going ahead with the preparation of suitable quarters for it, the commissioners have caused the following letter to be sent to the judges:

Newark, O., Jan. 10, 1913.

Dear Sir: We, as county commissioners, would like to have from you a statement in regard to the intention of your court of appeals as to doing the business of the court at four points in the district, and whether you will make Newark, O., one of the points if the county commissioners will provide suitable rooms in which to conduct the business of the court.

The board is perfectly willing to provide rooms for such court, but does not want to make this expense and then find that there is no court to occupy them.

Your reply by return mail will be appreciated.

Yours respectfully,

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, LICKING COUNTY, O.

As yet no answer to this communication has been received.

After the conference with the commissioners it was decided to send a committee to Mansfield, where the court is now in session, to express to the judges the desire and willingness of Newark for the location of the court in this city.

It was decided that W. C. Wells accompany Mr. Swartz, as the representative of the Board of Trade, and that he deliver into the hands of the court the following communication from Newark's commercial organization:

To the Honorable Court of Appeals of the Fifth District:

Honorable Judges: The Newark Board of Trade, a commercial organization of more than 600 members, learns with pleasure the decision to make Newark one of the four points in the Fifth judicial circuit in which to hold the regular sessions of said court.

This communication is to advise you that a committee from the Board of Trade and the Licking County Bar Association waited upon the Licking County Commissioners this morning and there learned of the adoption of a resolution dated January 8, 1913, by which the commissioners pledge themselves to provide suitable accommodations for your sessions in this city. The commissioners, before proceeding with the work of alterations in the court house, desire to learn more definitely your needs and desires, and we respectfully suggest that you make known as promptly as possible just what you desire Licking county to do in the matter.

Newark feels honored by your decision to make this city one of the four points in the district where regular sessions of your court will be held.

Yours respectfully,
THE NEWARK BOARD OF TRADE,
Fred C. Evans, President.

The problem has been solved by the Newark (Ohio) Board of Trade arousing its citizens and business men through an advertising campaign in the local papers, followed up by one day of personal solicitations among the business men."

DEMANDS $1000 FROM PHYSICIAN

Sequel to "Devine" Letters
Resulting in Identifying
Body of Max McCann

U.S. POSTAL AUTHORITIES

Investigating Blackmailing
Letter Received by Dr.
Rhu of Marion, Whose
of $2,000.

Marion, O., Jan. 15.—As a sequel to the letters received here from C. H. Devine, resulting in the positive identification of the body of Max McCann, who was killed while attempting to blow a safe at Howe, Ind., other letters have been received by Dr. Auguste Rhu of this city, demanding $1000.

One thousand dollars or your life" is the text of the blackmailing letter received by Dr. Rhu. It has been turned over to the United States postal authorities for investigation.

The letter is believed to be a sequel of the Rhu safe-blowing, a job, last January, when, in addition to money and valuables, worth altogether nearly $2000, private papers of Dr. Rhu which were in the safe looted were gone over by the robbers, as detailed in the "Devine" letters published.

It is believed that because of the nature of the contents of these private papers, containing certain professional and personal matters, an attempt is now being made to blackmail the well-known physician.

The fact that the blackmailing letter has been turned over to the federal authorities may lead to some sensational developments in connection with the Rhu robbery, in which the mysterious so-called "Devine" letters have played such a conspicuous part.

Up to the time that Dr. Rhu received the letter demanding money for his silence concerning the papers mentioned, the local authorities had been unable to learn anything as to the whereabouts of the mysterious "Devine," who claimed that Frank Phillips and Joe Martin, arrested for the Rhu job were innocent. Phillips is now serving a seven-year sentence in the Ohio penitentiary, and young Martin is in the Dayton workhouse.

Dr. Rhu has always felt that others, besides Phillips and Martin, were connected with the robbery of his office, and believes that the federal authorities will hunt them down.

Federal sleuths are now quietly at work on the affair, and arrests may be made at any time. While the postal officers have not as yet taken the local authorities into their confidence, Sheriff John J. Francis has been fully informed through other sources. He is also working on the case.

The letter demanding $1000 was received by Dr. Rhu upon his return from Cleveland, Saturday. At the same time his office girl, Miss Leah Brady, received a letter urging her to importune the doctor to leave the money as directed in the letter mailed to the physician.

According to directions, Dr. Rhu was to place $1000 in gold in his automobile garage at his home any time between Saturday and Wednesday night, Jan. 15.

The letter gave minute instructions, but these Dr. Rhu refused to divulge. When it was suggested that it might be a good idea to place a sum of money at the spot directed and then place a guard there to watch, the doctor merely smiled.

Although Dr. Rhu is threatened with death unless the money be placed in his garage before Wednesday night, he is not worrying. Dr. H. S. Rhu, his son and Miss Brady, however, are considerably agitated over the affair.

"I wonder where they think a country doctor is going to get $1000," said Dr. Rhu, smilingly, today.

Mrs. J. I. Price of Bellefontaine avenue, Dr. Rhu's next-door neighbor, received an anonymous letter Saturday. It directed her to be at a certain place at a certain time of day and she would learn something of deep interest to her. Mrs. Price destroyed the letter.

Dr. Rhu's blackmailing letter was written with lead pencil as was Miss Brady's. Both were mailed in Marion. The handwriting was that of a man, apparently of fairly good education.

STOCKHOLDERS OF THE CANAL LAND CO. ELECT DIRECTORS

The stockholders of the Canal Land company, the $400,000 syndicate which bought the abandoned canal lands from the state for $49,588, met for organization on Tuesday night in the office of the Board of Trade.

The thirty local men who compose the company entered their stock subscriptions, after which regulations for the government of the company were presented and adopted.

As provided by the regulations the stockholders then proceeded to the election of nine directors, choosing Robert M. Davidson, Charles C. Metz, A. H. Hiley, Fred C. Speer, J. A. Flory, F. L. W. Begg, H. S. Fleck and William H. Smith.

During the meeting the stockholders discussed in a general way the plans for handling the property acquired. One of the features discussed was the proposal that has been made to members of the company that the city take over the strip between Second street and Third street and build the new City Hall here. A number of the stockholders put themselves on record as in favor of the plan from the point of view of citizens and asserted that any movement in that direction should be met by the lowest figure possible by the land company.

After the stockholders meeting the directors of the company organized by electing R. M. Davidson, president, Fred C. Speer, vice president, Charles C. Metz, secretary and treasurer and J. A. Flory, attorney.

At a meeting of the directors, which will be held in the near future, more definite steps will be taken regarding the pending negotiations.

TO DISCUSS Y. M. C. A. WORK IN COUNTRY

Secretary Frank L. Johnson of the Newark Y. M. C. A. is to address the Saturday session of the Ohio Country Life Institute, to be held in the new college auditorium at New Concord, Jan. 24 and 25, discussing before some of the most eminent students of social conditions the "Country Work of the Y. M. C. A." Programs of the institute are arriving in the city and show prospects of a most enjoyable conference. The meeting is to be under the direction of Dr. Warren H. Wilson of the department of church and labor, who for several years has been a co-worker with Dr. Charles Stehle, a prominent writer on sociological topics. Dr. Wilson is one of the leading authorities on country life problems.

Other speakers on the program are President W. O. Thompson of Ohio State University; Dr. M. B. McNutt, an expert on country life improvement; Harvey Watson of New Concord; General R. B. Brown of Zanesville; State Librarian John H. Newman, and A. P. Sandles, state secretary of agriculture.

One speaker whose addresses will be of peculiar interest and profit is A. C. Monahan, who is the assistant at the U. S. bureau of education at Washington, and who is now known as the "specialist in rural education." Every school board in this part of Ohio should have at least one representative present to hear the addresses of Mr. Monahan, and every teacher of country schools should not fail to be present Saturday, Jan. 25, if there was no other speaker than Mr. Monahan.

"THE PINK LADY" IS GREATEST ATTRACTION EVER SEEN IN NEWARK

Klaw & Erlanger's internationally famous musical production, "The Pink Lady," is the attraction announced for Thursday, Jan. 23, at the Auditorium. This extraordinary theatrical property is not only the recognized peer of American-made musical comedies, but in Europe it was voted the best thing "musical" presented on the foreign stage in a decade. At its initial presentation at the Globe theatre, London, England, the press and public were fairly electrified by its reception and the keynote of success was sounded so loud and true that immediately arrangements were made for its presentation in almost every country of the world.

"The Pink Lady" relates the adventures of a young Parisian blade who must shortly forsake the joys of bachelorhood for the humdrum of married life, but who plays one more luncheon with an old flame in a quiet restaurant in the forest of Compiegne. In this, as well as in all of his escapades, he has told his sweetheart he has been out with a fictitious friend, one Dondidier. Instantly she selects the same restaurant for a little luncheon party. Separately they come to the resort, to find that the wife of the proprietor has been kissed by a satyr, a Paris Beau Brummel, another Dondidier, a kiss which gives her instantly the reputation of being a famous beauty. Here also have assembled the young blade upon whom the satyr has smiled with approval. The young couple meet. The girl is suspicious until the young man's erstwhile sweetheart announced that she is the wife of the Dondidier, who has been detained in Paris. With surprise and alarm he learns that the person whose name he has used in vain so often is really a respectable dealer in antiques. His sweetheart plans to motor to Paris to remove all suspicions by facing Dondidier. He must reach him first to warn him. The victims also hurry to the city to meet the wonderful and mysterious Satyr and invite him to a ball which they are to give at the Cafe Les Satyres.

Dondidier, the antique dealer, the fictitious Satyr, is found to be old, but respectable. He refuses to listen to any schemes of deception until he is promised a snuffbox which will complete a collection he has been making for years. Then enters the jealous fiancée, who immediately begins to involve him in trouble. His

FEDERAL LOANS TO AID FARMERS

Congressman Bathrick Would Create a Bureau

PROPOSES A BOND ISSUE

Ohio Representative's Bill Suggests Government Paying 4 Per Cent For Raising Needful Money and Charging Farmers 4 1/2 Per Cent.

Washington.—An original federal financial scheme was laid before the house of representatives for enactment into law when Representative E. R. Bathrick of Ohio proposed that the United States government embark on the business of loaning money to farmers on mortgages on their lands. The Bathrick idea is radically different from the agricultural credit plan of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, which President Taft brought to the attention of a score of state governors in a recent conference at the White House. Mr. Herrick proposed that the state governments and ultimately the federal government enact legislation to encourage and enable the farmers to form rural credit associations which would lend money to the farmers, but his scheme does not contemplate that the nation or the states go into the business of lending money to farmers. Representative Bathrick is in accord with the purpose of the Herrick rural credit plan, but does not believe the problem will be solved through the formation of rural credit associations. At one stroke he thinks the federal government should go into the business of lending money direct to the farmers, not on second mortgages, but on the unencumbered land of the farmers, to be mortgaged to the government as security. The government would charge the farmer interest at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent and would issue 4 per cent bonds for the purpose of obtaining the money to be loaned.

The Bathrick idea is embodied in a bill, which he introduced, providing for the creation of a bureau of farm loans by the United States government to loan money to "bona fide tillers of the soil, taking as security for said loans farm mortgages."

Under the Bathrick bill the secretary of the treasury would be "authorized and directed to prescribe forms, procedure and regulations for the conduct of the business of the bureau of farm loans, to borrow money from time to time on the credit of the United States in whatever sums are required to make the said loans and to prepare and issue coupon or registered bonds of the United States, bearing not in excess of 4 per cent interest, payable annually and redeemable as he may prescribe, provided that the total sum due upon said farm loans annually shall bear as close relation as possible to the total sum of the redeemable bonds and interest payable thereon and that no loans shall be made except to those actually engaged in farming nor upon farm lands which have not at least one-half of the acreage under cultivation."

It is further provided by the Bathrick bill that whenever the "commissioner of the bureau of loans shall have ascertained that the value of the farm land offered as security is sufficient and that the applicant or applicants are possessed of a good and sufficient title to said property and are otherwise legally competent to execute a mortgage thereon he shall, in written form, recommend to the treasurer of the United States that the loan be made to said applicant or applicants, and the treasurer shall, upon receipt of the mortgage, properly drawn in favor of the treasurer of the United States, out of the funds provided by this act pay over to the mortgagor the sum specified in the mortgage, but no loan shall be made in excess of 60 per cent of the value of the property, and the rate of interest on said loans shall not exceed 4 1/2 per cent. The said bonds and mortgages and the interest thereon shall be exempt from all taxes and duties of the United States as well as from taxation in any form or under state, municipal or local authority."

COX MAY ASK THE RETURN OF APPOINTMENTS

Columbus, Jan. 15.—Governor Cox gave no intimation today as to what he would do with the recess appointments of Governor Harmon, recalled from the Senate yesterday. Rumors had it that all the appointments with the exception of John I. Miller, as canal superintendent, would be filled with new men. In asking the Senate to return the recess appointments of his predecessor, Governor Cox followed the precedent of Governor Harmon.

Question: Why is a popular song not?

REFUSED BY GUARD HE USED WINDOW
The new auditor of state, the Hon. Vic Donahay, had some trouble breaking into the state house on inauguration day last Monday, but success crowned his effort.
During the morning Mr. and Mrs. Donahay, accompanied by the former's brother and his wife, applied for admission to the state house at the south entrance, but the guard didn't know the new official, and thinking he was only an ordinary spectator, refused Mr. Donahay and his party admittance to the capitol. Without stopping to argue with the officer, Mr. Donahay promptly walked to a window on the west side of the building and climbed in, getting there in time to witness the ceremony and, incidentally, to tell the officious guard one or two things.
This story must be true, as Mr. Donahay told it himself to County Auditor Riley.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.
Flat Foot.
A treatment suitable, with but slight modification, for all cases of flat foot trouble (flat foot), from the early cases which are often described as "weak ankles" to the most severe cases, where there is old standing structural change, is described by Dr. P. B. Rath in the Lancet. The treatment consists of attention to footwear, attention to position in standing and walking and regular daily exercises. Whether boots or shoes are worn, whether they button or lace, they must be the shape of the feet. The inner side of the foot where the big toe lies is kept straight, so that the end of the foot is opposite the big toe and not opposite the second or third toe. This is to insure that the big toe is not pushed out against the other toes and has plenty of room in which to act. The soles should be a sixth to a fourth of an inch thick, the heels broad, an inch or less in height.

MANY NEWARK BANKS ELECT DIRECTORATES
Organization of banking affairs in the city, in accordance with the requirements of the national banking laws and the regulations of local building and savings organizations, show but few changes in the roster of officials for the coming year. In the Licking County Bank & Trust Company affairs, Mr. E. T. Rugg, former vice president, assumes the presidency, succeeding the late William Allen Veach. Frank Yost as vice president, C. L. V. The Franklin National Bank official roster for the coming year, determined at yesterday's meeting, comprises W. A. Robbins president, A. F. Crayton vice president, and James K. Dewey cashier. OLIVE Tablets
OIL the Bowels
A Physician's Substitute For Dangerous Calomel.
When you feel that your liver and bowels need help take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Substitute for Calomel. Calomel is effective, but dangerous—causing bad after-effects. Olive Tablets are especially made to take the place of Calomel. Dr. Edwards for years has been Calomel's foe. He saw its dangers and its disadvantages in 17 years' practice, treating patients for all kinds of liver and bowel complaints. In his efforts to do without Calomel he developed his now famous little olive-oil-colored tablets. Olive Tablets are mild, but effective. Safe and sure. Pleasant to take, but unfailing in results.
Olive Tablets oil the bowels just enough to start Nature's own action, and they tone up the liver at the same time. They are made from a rare combination of vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.
If you want to regain that feeling of joyous buoyancy and clear thought take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They work like a vacation. 10 and 25 cents per box.
"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

THE HUMAN PROCESSION
By O. T. Fennell.
LEONARD DARWIN, SON OF GREAT NATURALIST, IS 63 TODAY
That sons of great men seldom achieve greatness is a statement that has been disproved in thousands of instances, but never more thoroughly than by the sons of Charles Darwin, the distinguished naturalist and father of evolution. One of the foremost men of science in England is Major Leonard Darwin, fourth son of the celebrated Charles, who will celebrate today his sixty-third birthday. Sir George Howard Darwin, who died last month, was famed as an astronomer, while Sir Francis Darwin, third son of the author of "The Origin of Species," was knighted by King George the fifth for his attainments in various sciences.
Major Leonard Darwin was born at Down, in Kent, January 15, 1850. He was educated at the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich, and after a brilliant military career, retired in 1880 with the rank of major, to devote the remainder of his life to scientific expeditions, and has written books dealing with astronomy, finance and eugenics.
What his father did for evolution, Major Leonard Darwin promises to accomplish in the domain of the new science of eugenics, or race improvement. In a recent paper he explained the object and methods of the eugenic movement, in which he is a leader. He wrote, in part, as follows:
"The main object of the eugenist is to insure the interests of the unborn of the future always being held in view in connection with all our social customs and all our legislation. For the sake of our fellow creatures of today and tomorrow every effort should without doubt be made to improve the environment of mankind by rational methods. LEONARD DARWIN, SON OF GREAT NATURALIST, IS 63 TODAY
That sons of great men seldom achieve greatness is a statement that has been disproved in thousands of instances, but never more thoroughly than by the sons of Charles Darwin, the distinguished naturalist and father of evolution. One of the foremost men of science in England is Major Leonard Darwin, fourth son of the celebrated Charles, who will celebrate today his sixty-third birthday. Sir George Howard Darwin, who died last month, was famed as an astronomer, while Sir Francis Darwin, third son of the author of "The Origin of Species," was knighted by King George the fifth for his attainments in various sciences.
Major Leonard Darwin was born at Down, in Kent, January 15, 1850. He was educated at the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich, and after a brilliant military career, retired in 1880 with the rank of major, to devote the remainder of his life to scientific expeditions, and has written books dealing with astronomy, finance and eugenics.
What his father did for evolution, Major Leonard Darwin promises to accomplish in the domain of the new science of eugenics, or race improvement. In a recent paper he explained the object and methods of the eugenic movement, in which he is a leader. He wrote, in part, as follows:
"The main object of the eugenist is to insure the interests of the unborn of the future always being held in view in connection with all our social customs and all our legislation. KENYON ATTACKS MAIL FRANKING
Would Abolish Annual Seed Distribution.
HE PROBES CAMPAIGN MAIL.
Free Postal Privilege For Government Officials Costs United States Millions of Dollars Is Discussed—Nevertheless Practice Is Expected to Continue—Free Seeds Also Popular.
By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Jan. 15.—[Special.]—Senator Kenyon would see Jack the Giant Killer if successful in an effort he is making toward defeating the annual seed distribution and in reducing the amount of frankable mail. He has started out by asking for information as to the cost of sending out franked mail from political headquarters during the recent campaign and also the cost of carrying seeds free of charge, as well as the cost of the seeds to the government.
Thousands of tons of mail for political purposes are carried every year, but in a presidential year the amount is something tremendous. The postoffice department has made a rough estimate that the cost during 1912 was $2,500,000.
Seed distribution began when the old bureau of agriculture, having experimented with seeds, handed over its surplus to congressmen. The idea became so popular that now nearly $500,000 is appropriated for the purchase of seeds to be distributed to the people as a gift. Senator Kenyon will not be able to stop either of these features of government, even if he makes it plain that they are abuses, or, as he calls them, "graft." Franking and seed distribution have come to stay.
Often have sincere reformers tried to have the seed appropriation eliminated, but to no avail. Less frequently has the franking privilege been attacked, but that is stronger than free seeds, as free mails benefit every member of congress.
Old-timed Farewell.
Congressman Olmsted bid a sort of farewell to congressional life when the Indian appropriation bill was up, making the Carlisle school for Indians the text of his observations. Commending the school to those he left behind, he passed on to a tribute to Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts which ought to elect that man to the senate. Few men have received such an eulogy while living.
"When a member stands the test here," said Olmsted, generalizing, "when he is popular, looked up to and respected by the members after long service here, it may be taken for granted that he is well fitted for service in the senate."
Carter and the Minority Leader.
Congressman Carter and Minority Leader Mann enjoy each other. The Oklahoma man is nearly half Indian but a keen and effective legislator. "I would like to ask the gentleman a question as a lawyer," said Carter one day. "Oh, you need not ask me a question as a lawyer," replied Mann. "I quit the practice of law long ago, and, besides, I never answer a question of law without a retainer." "Not being a lawyer myself," responded Carter, "I was simply seeking advice from a distinguished legal light."
A little later Carter was trying to get Mann to withdraw one of his numerous points of order. "If there is a chance to persuade the gentleman I should like to plead with him," said Carter. "I cannot say," replied Mann. "The gentleman has so often persuaded me against my better judgment that he might be able to do it again."

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

One Rich Girl's Trouble

SHE was a very pretty girl, but there was no vanity or selfishness in her face. Rather was there sensitiveness, idealism and earnestness. Both in her dress and her conversation, she showed, quite unconsciously, that she was accustomed to wealth and luxury. Life seemed to have been very good to her. Or rather, she seemed to have entered into her heritage of good, which life has for all of us, but which so many of us seem to miss.

But there was a fly in her ointment. There was a little cloud on the horizon that threatened to overcast her years with gloom. She wanted to go into social settlement work and be a nurse among the poor. And her parents would not let her. And there the matter stood, a small source of irritation as yet, but festering.

This was what that sensitiveness, that dreaminess, that purpose of her face meant. She could not be happy in the butterfly existence planned for her by her parents. But they could only regard with horror the idea of their beautiful, carefully reared daughter, going into the vice and disease and uncleanness of the slums, and giving her life to work there. They would not consent to it. And so they bought her pretty clothes, and took her traveling, and sent her to dances, and lived in the hope that soon Prince Charming would appear and put all such nonsense out of her head.

But were these parents doing right? Her very nature called for this work. Had they the right to thwart her desires, to make her life what they wanted it to be, but which was not an expression of herself?

They had the old-fashioned notion that society and marriage are sufficient to fill a girl's life. They could not get the viewpoint, held by so many girls today, that love has its place in life, but is not by any means the whole of life, that in addition to love, they want a share in the struggle of life, an active and useful part in the onward march of things. "Love is looked on by women today," says a modern writer, "as a hors d'oeuvre, and they want substantial food." This is exactly the attitude of many an educated, thinking girl. And whenever this view comes up against the old-time notion that love should be the all of a woman's life, it breeds trouble.

And so this girl, despite all the material good that life had given her, was sorrowful. And her parents were sorrowful. And if in time she yields to their wishes, for she is loving and dutiful, she will always feel that her life is purposeless and more or less of a failure.

Yet if they would concede to her the right which is justly hers, to live her life as she desires, the very experience might show her that, after all, her truest happiness was to be found within the home. She might discover that this work she longs to do was not after all what she wanted. And then her home life would be completely happy and contented. She would have killed the demon of desire which, until it is slain, destroys all contentment.

And at any rate, she has the right to seek the true expression of herself. She should be no less dutiful and loving in the home because she sought this work outside of it. But she would be giving the life within her its true expression. And this is the right of life. To try to thwart it only brings trouble. When its rightful course is stopped, it breaks out in ways not intended, or gradually dries up, and there is a barren plain where might have been a fruitful valley.

SOCIETY

A goodly number of women, representing the literary clubs of the city were present at the called meeting of the Progressive club at Taylor Hall, Tuesday afternoon, to hear Mrs. J. D. Karnes speak on the City Federation of Clubs.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Edward Doe, president of the Progressive club, who said that her club had taken the initiative because the members had often spoken and wished for a city federation; that the meeting was for no definite action and would not transact any business, but was for the purpose of arousing enthusiasm. She then introduced the speaker, Mrs. J. D. Karnes, vice president of the Southwestern division of Federated clubs of Columbus.

Mrs. Karnes in an eloquent and pleasing manner told of what Federation meant, how it helped the individuals of a club; how the clubs could then help each other and they in turn benefit the community as a whole. Mrs. Karnes next read an interesting article by Mrs. Philip Carpenter on federation, who defined it as a mutual joining of forces working for one central point.

In closing her remarks the speaker said she would tell how the Columbus club federated, the first meeting being held November 12, 1908, and after electing officers, set about to help Columbus. Mrs. Karnes told of having the unsightly wagons and cabs removed from in front of the State House; how the play grounds had been kept up by them for ten years until two years ago when the city took the burden off their hands. How they had educated young girls and found homes for them was also discussed.

Presidents of the different clubs expressed their opinion in regard to federation and the meeting adjourned.

to meet in two weeks at Taylor Hall when a federation will be effected and the election of officers and other business will be transacted.

Miss Genevieve Kates entertained the members of the Wednesday Evening Euchre club last evening at her home in North Fourth street. After a dinner of delightful appointments, the tables were cleared and the club game enjoyed, at the conclusion of which Mrs. J. E. Besanceney received the guest's prize and Miss Marie Hoffherr and Anna Sheridan the club prizes. Miss Kates had four guests for the evening, Mrs. Richard Elmer, Mrs. J. E. Besanceney, Miss Anna Bowman and Miss Clara Miller.

Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald will be hostess to the Monday Bridge club next week at her home in Hudson avenue.

A public reception is to be held at the Y. W. C. A. quarters in the Robinson building on West Church street, Friday afternoon and evening, the specified hours being from three to five and from seven to ten o'clock. The event will be in the nature of a house-warming, and all friends of the association, and particularly those who have signed cards signifying their intent to become affiliated with the Y. W. C. A. movement, are requested to be present.

One of the prettiest receptions of the past week was that of Mrs. Frank H. DeLano. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the many ladies who called were invited to meet Miss Myrtle Lyda, Mrs. DeLano's niece from Newark, O.

Miss Lyda has been the guest of Mrs. F. H. DeLano of Russell, Iowa, for the past three weeks, having spent the holiday season there.

Mr. Wallace Meich, was pleasantly surprised at his home in Elmwood avenue Monday evening, it being his birthday anniversary. The evening was devoted to playing games and the serving of a delicious oyster supper. Covers were placed for eight guests and the table decorations were eye-catching and greener.

Mrs. William Borton delightfully entertained the ladies of the Colonial Sewing circle at her home in Woods avenue last Friday afternoon. The few hours were very busily spent in the regular business of the circle and in needle work, the election of officers, resulting in retaining the same officers of the past year. A dainty two-course luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon's work by the hostess.

Last evening proved to be a great social event for the Order of Eastern Stars, Newark chapter No. 305, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bonshire, of North Fourth street.

The members having planned a reception for their worthy patron, Mr. W. G. Narrigan and his wife, who are about to leave the city to make their future home in West Lafayette, Ohio. Mr. Narrigan was presented in a few well chosen words by F. M. Howard with a Past Worthy Patron's Jewel, while Mrs. Narrigan was given a beautiful pair of candlesticks. While it was a surprise to them both they were equal to the occasion. Mr. Narrigan thanking them for their kind remembrance, and said that his had been one of the most pleasant evenings that they had ever spent while in Newark, and assured all that their good friends would ever be remembered.

Dainty refreshments were served. During the evening the guests were highly entertained by Mr. Harry Rose on the violin and Miss Irene Bonshire on the piano. By request Mrs. Bonshire sang several beautiful solos, among them "Make New Friends, But Keep the Old."

Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Helen Ryan, Kuppinger, Jennie Cole, Atherton, Harrison, M. Ryan, Bagnely, Borden, Burch, Robe, Dorcas, Rosebraugh, Dittler, Wollard, Misses Bradley, Boner, Avery, Macee, McDonough, Irene Bonshire, Mrs. Bonshire, Messrs. Harry Walter, Eugene Fletcher, August Burge, Harry Rosebraugh and Miss Anna Lyon. Mrs. Annie Howe Jones, Mrs. F. F. Robinson of Granville, and Mr. and Mrs. Bonshire.

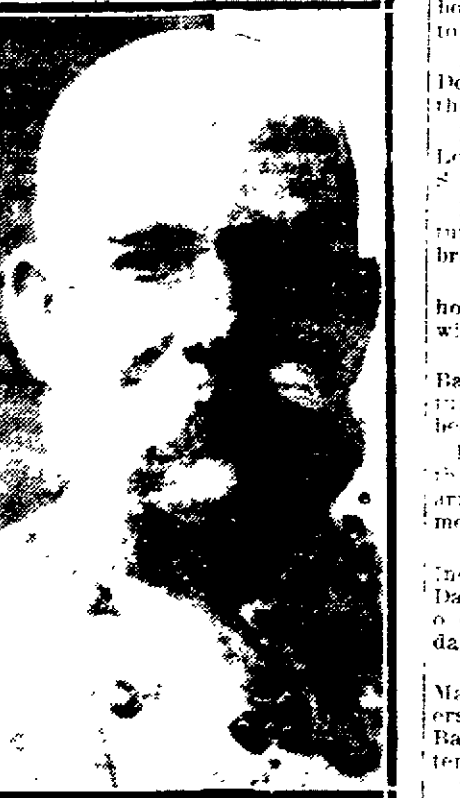

Mrs. W. H. Davis is entertaining the members of the Thursday Afternoon Bridge club this afternoon at her home in Hudson avenue.

The Plymouth Church Mission Circle will hold its monthly session Thursday at 2:15 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. G. Harbottle, 81 Eighth street.

Mrs. A. V. Lea, was the hostess to a number of friends Tuesday evening at her home on Deway avenue, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Euchre was the chief amusement of the evening and at 10:30 a dainty repast was served. The guests departed at a late hour wishing the hostess many more such anniversaries.

Ruler of Austria is Again Seriously Ill

Francis Joseph, the venerable ruler of Austria, who has been the victim of disease, is again seriously ill.

The emperor was sixty-two years of age last August. His physical condition has been so poor since that time that he has been unable to leave his bed. He has been suffering from a severe attack of influenza, which has been complicated by a pneumonia. He has been in bed for several weeks, and his condition is still very serious.

These facts are in distress that were not mentioned in the official reports. It is believed that the emperor's condition is more serious than has been reported.

RAILROADS GET REVISED PLANS FOR THE SUBWAY

Chief Assistant Engineer Sumner, of the Pennsylvania lines, and Paul Ditter, occupying the same position with the B. and O. railway, were in Newark Wednesday morning in consultation with the city's engineers, Messrs. Maetzel and Simpson of Columbus, C. H. Wells of Newark, City Solicitor Jones and Councilman Dayton and Strasel regarding the plans for the proposed subway.

This was the first glimpse the railroad engineers had of the revised plans made by the city's engineers. The plans made by the railroads and those drawn by the city were gone over carefully and compared, the changes made by the city being noted by the railroads' representatives.

Blue prints of the plans were turned over to the railroad representatives and they will go over them at their leisure. They agreed to meet the city officials again on February 25 when the railroads' revised plans will be submitted.

TOWNSHIP PEOPLE WANT A SPECIAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

The hearing of the application for the establishment of a special school district for Harrison and Union townships drew a banner crowd in probate court Wednesday. All the seats outside the rail were filled, many filled the aisles, twelve appropriated the seats in the jury box and some even perched on the rail. Twenty-five witnesses from the rural districts were subpoenaed and when the case was called by Judge Hunter it seemed that each witness was accompanied to court by his family and a host of retainers.

The petitioners in the matter, who desire the location of a high school at Outville, were represented by Fitzgibbon and Montgomery and the contestants by Kibler and Kibler.

The controversy over the fact that since the establishment of a central school at Kirkersville that village has incorporated and the benefits of the school when extended to the children of the township must be paid for. The petitioners take the position that they want a high school of their own instead of paying tuition to send their children to a school that they already support.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Cork Gives An Account Of Itself

Used For Stoppers in Ink Bottles.

JACK had lost the cork out of the ink bottle, and so when bedtime came he and Evelyn had quite a hunt for it. They could not find it, though, and daddy shook his head sadly as he said:

"I suppose the little cork must stay under the sofa or in whatever dark corner it may have stopped. It has had so many adventures in its life it should be getting used to them by this time."

"Tell us the cork's story," Jack and Evelyn cried. "Then we shall try very hard to find it in the morning before we go to school."

"The story of the cork is not so easy for me to tell," daddy replied. "But if you'll pretend to go with me into the dark corner where very likely Mr. Cork lies I'll try to tell you as much of his story as I can make out."

"There, now, shut your eyes. 'Sneak, sneak!' says the cork. 'I'm glad I'm out of that dirty bottle. The ink and I could never get on together. He didn't seem to understand that he should be polite to those who are older.'"

"Old? Well, yes. You see some cork trees live to be over a hundred. Unusually about sixty—right in my prime, you know."

"Did you never see a cork tree? Oh, then, you've missed something worth while! If you had ever seen the furrowed ash gray bark of the tree you would know it again. They are tall spreading trees."

"The bits of bark which are used as stoppers in bottles are cut out of sheets of bark taken off the cork trees generally in July or August. Cork trees grow in warm countries, and in some of these persons have groves from which they harvest the cork whenever the bark is thick enough to cut."

"The man who cuts the cork off the trees has an ax with a sharp blade. He slashes up and down the tree several times with the ax. Then he makes some cross cuts. After that, with the blunt end of the ax, he pounds on the bark so that the old may be loosened from the new layer underneath. The sheets of cork are then easily pried off the tree. A tree is not ready to cut until it is fifteen years old. It takes about ten years for the bark to be ready to cut again."

"The slabs of cork cut from the tree are first soaked in water. When nearly dry they are heated over a fire. This closes most of the tiny holes in the bark. The slabs of bark are then made flat by pressing under a weight."

"Our slab of cork was sent to a factory where cork stoppers are cut for bottles."

"The sheet of cork was put into a machine to cut the stoppers. With a number of corks of the same size I was sent to a manufacturer of ink, who used us as stoppers for his bottles of ink."

FLOOD

reach all the needy. Judge Caldwell of the juvenile court, has practically suspended the routine work of that tribunal. Under the direction of Chief Probation Officer Emerson the entire force of the probation department is working with the various relief committees.
Waiting for the water to fall, thousands of flood refugees crowded the river's edge in the East End yesterday. Owners of houses in the flood district spent the day anchoring their property to trees with huge cables, in hopes that the dwellings would stand the final strain of the big flood.
Groundkeeper Matt McCormack, of the Cincinnati Gymnasium grounds, had the high board fence anchored so securely last night that most of it was still standing, although scarcely six inches of the boards remained out of water. Beyond the damage by water to the club house the gym will suffer very little loss on account of the flood.
The loss at Coney Island will be very heavy. In spite of hard work by the caretakers, several amusement devices floated away yesterday. Practically the whole grounds are submerged, and in some places the water is five or six feet deep. Most of the loss in the East End will be borne by home owners. It was estimated by real estate men that the damage in this section of the city will be several hundred thousand dollars.

Relief work continued yesterday in all districts affected by the high waters.
Hundreds of families were fed in the flooded district west of Millcreek and in the Millcreek valley yesterday by the western division of the Citizens' Flood Relief committee, which is in charge of T. J. Edmonds, of the Associated Charities, with headquarters at the Oyster school. Every portion of the district has been mapped out by Mr. Edmonds and several field workers assigned to each section so as to secure the best relief service. The work has been greatly aided by volunteer workers.
A new feature was added to the relief work by Secretary Edmonds yesterday morning. This work was devising "ferries" by means of skiffs. Men in flood-bound houses were taken aboard and carried to dry land so they could go to work. Thus they will not lose their positions and will be able to supply the needs of their families without assistance. They were taken to their homes last night in the same way.
Secretary Edmonds said last night that there has been no suffering in his district. This is due, he said, to the splendid organization which has been built up by the aid of the volunteer workers, business organizations and churches. He estimates that several hundred families were affected by the flood by having to move or to live in the second story of their homes. One fifth of the number have required aid of some kind.

Supervisor Edmonds fears that the distress will be more acute within the next two or three days, because so many men have been thrown out of employment by the shutting down of big factories situated in the flood-stricken territory. The unemployed men had money and provisions to last them three or four days, but this will soon be gone, and they will need assistance.
Little sickness has resulted among the families residing in houses in the flood district, according to reports of the committee.

WOMEN OF NEWPORT SHELTERED IN JAIL

The officials of Newport have the flood situation well in hand. Overseer of the Poor Cherrington stated yesterday that no one is allowed to suffer.
"We are now supplying over 800 persons with coal, groceries, fresh meat and other necessities, including fresh water where hydrants are cut off."
Sixty persons are being housed in the armory at the City Hall. City Jailor Wilson has removed all prisoners from the lower floors and corridors of the jail and turned the space over to the women who desire to do washing.
The City Commissioners have made arrangements to clean the various streets and alleys of the city as fast as the flood subsides, in order to prevent unsanitary conditions.
The colored church on Columbia street has been turned into a relief station. Most of the families forced to leave are stopping with relatives or friends. Lieutenant Brumfield and Sergeant Burnsides, who have charge of the city forces, have prepared landings at various places in the flooded district. These are being utilized for dumping coal, &c. Many families have their coal in the flooded cellars, and those using gas are without fuel, because the supply has been cut off.

of them took to skiffs and rowed five to ten miles to the hills where they have secured temporary shelter from highland farmers.
The exceeding depth of the water on the Indiana side below here is shown by the fact that at West Franklin only the steeple of the church shows above the flood tide.
In the fashionable residence district of the east end of the city the water poured out into the streets from sewer inlets, flooding everything, and hundreds of families are boating their way through the streets to portions of the city not inundated. In hundreds of other homes the basements are full of water and the people are without heat. A thousand families are seeking temporary shelter.

On Monday evening, January 6th, Paul Lewis was involuntary host to a party of friends, in honor of his twenty-first birthday. The affair was planned and successfully executed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lewis. The evening was spent in games and social conversation. ## METHODIST

By a decade old, has invaded the ranks of 257 cities located in all sections of the country. There is Galveston, the home of the commission plan, situated in a combined commercial and agricultural center. In the south central section is the great river port of Memphis. Going farther west we find such cities as Oakland, Tacoma, and Sacramento. The conservative East has even adopted it in a half dozen cities. Thus far is given the history of the commission form of government.

Prof. Dickerson then suggested a number of points in connection with commission government which should be thoroughly considered before the adoption of the plan in this community, among them being:

1. Kinds of commission government.
2. What about the adjuncts of commission government.
3. Should the commissioners be elected at large?
4. Should the size of the commission be commensurate with the size of the city?
5. Should the individual commissioners each be executive heads of departments?
6. Should the commission be elected on a non-partisan ballot?

The visiting speaker of the evening, Mr. George F. Rudisill of Columbus, one of the advocates of the commission plan, was introduced, and spoke for nearly two hours on various phases of the commission form. He outlined the kinds of municipal government now in operation in this country, and compared the conditions in many cities with conditions in those adopting the commission plan. Evidence of undeniable financial gain wherever the plan has been tried proved the basis of his arguments, and convinced those present that the substitution of the Des Moines plan, which is favored by Mr. Rudisill, for existing forms of municipal government in this and other municipalities could not be other than distinctly advantageous. Mr. Rudisill's address aroused a substantial interest, manifested by the discussion which followed, in which scores of the Brotherhood members asked pertinent questions regarding the commission plan. At the close of the discussion, the Brotherhood definitely placed itself on record as favoring the adoption of the commission form of government for Newark.
